DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This three bay wide, three story high building stands at the end of a row on a corner site. It is three stories high, three bays wide, and two rooms deep, with a rear sloping shed roof. A pair of two story high extensions run from the back of the building.

The first floor accomodates a confectionery store. The wood and glass store-front is divided in three sections from left to right: a corner entrance, with stone landing, set at a 45° angle with the facade, filled with double wooden doors and transom above; to the right and far right, a pair of large double hung windows with 1/1 lights, set above wooden panels. A bracketed and dentilled wooden cornice which returns on the side runs at the second floor level.

Second and third floor window openings are segmental arched with brick sills. They are filled with double hung windows with 4/4 lights; the top of each upper sash is segmental arched.

The wooden cornice at the roofline is supported by a pair of brackets, one at each end. A lower string of molding defines a brick freize. Rows of dentils and rolled modillions run above.

The side of the building is stuccoed. The two story middle extension has a shed roof sloping down from front to rear; the back extension is roofed with a shed sloping down to the side street. A variety of flat and segmental arched window openings fenestrate the side. An entrance at ground level leads to the back room of the main building. A garage door leads into the back extension.

BUILDER/ARCHITECTSTATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

A large commercial structure occupying a corner site, 150 W. Cross Street is a graceful example of late Victorian corner-store design. The first floor storefront, if not contemporary with the main building, is of similar date and is in nearly original condition. The tall, segmental arched window openings filled with segmental arched sash are among the finest window-details in Sharp-Leadenhall.
